

EUROPEAN VOCATIONAL SKILLS WEEK 2022

That's a wrap!

An impressive lineup of regional, national, and local events made the 6th edition of the European Vocational Skills Week (the Week) an unforgettable event-packed five days of insightful takeaways from reflective webinars and engaging panel discussions with VET stakeholders.

The Week's events (16-20 May) primarily explored the theme of VET and the Green Transition, but also touched upon a host of other topics, such as upskilling and reskilling people to help them benefit from Europe's digital transformation.

VET Excellence Awards – celebrating excellence in VET

The Week had something for everyone. The programme included hundreds of associated events as well as a high-level event organised by the European Commission (18-19 May), together with the flagship Vocational Education and Training (VET) Excellence Awards, which celebrated outstanding examples of VET practice. A sea of smiles, reflective words of VET inspiration, watch them all at the 6th VET Excellence Awards.

More on the Week

Launched in 2016, the European Commission initiative brings together all stakeholders – teachers, organisations, industry, students, and trainers. All under one umbrella, they highlight the many benefits VET offers young people and adults alike. With an eye to the future skillsets that will be required and the other on the realities of the current labour market, VET aims to equip everyone with the necessary quality skills to unleash their true potential.
